

HOTEL MAN HELD ON LAWYER'S CHARGE

Philadelphian Is Accused of Trying to Compound a Felony.

OTHER WAY, HE SAYS.

Alleged Theft of Jewels and Cash
by Young New Yorker the Original Cause.

Counter charges of attempting to commit a felony were made to-day in Centre Street Police Court by Carl Fischer Hansen, the lawyer, against Robert Brunswick, of No. 209 South Cleveland avenue, Philadelphia, a hotel manager, and by Mr. Brunswick against Mr. Hansen. Mr. Brunswick was held in $1,000 bail for further examination.

Stephen Baus, of No. 33 West One Hundred and Fifth street, this city, while visiting in Philadelphia is alleged to have stolen jewelry worth $200 and $25 in cash from Mr. Brunswick's sister, Elizabeth Baus, hastened to Philadelphia when she heard her brother was in trouble, and Mr. Hansen, as counsel for Miss Baus, asserted in court to-day that when she saw Mr. Brunswick in Philadelphia the latter demanded the return of all the stolen jewelry and cash and $100 besides, in consideration of a promise to refrain from prosecuting the thief.

Miss Baus corroborated this, and said she came back to New York to consult with her lawyer.

According to Mr. Hansen, Mr. Brunswick followed and met Miss Baus at Mr. Hansen's law office. There, the lawyer said, he advised Mr. Brunswick that he was seeking to compound a felony. During his absence from the room, he said, Miss Baus slipped Brunswick $30. This Mr. Brunswick subsequently threw on the table as he was leaving the room. -Mr. Hansen said he came to New York at the request of Mr. Hansen and went to his office, where he met Miss Baus. Mr. Hansen, said Mr. Brunswick, under the pretense of handing him a cigar passed him a roll of bills, which he produced when asked. Mr. Hansen said that when he arrested him.

Mr. Brunswick was about the maddest man the Criminal Courts Building has sheltered for years. He proclaimed his innocence to the last fiber of his being. Miss Baus confirmed the story of the lawyer in all essential details, however.

POLICEMAN'S FATHER GIVES HIM $200,000.

So He Turns In His Shield and Quits the Force.

There are few policemen in the Bronx who would not willingly change places with Nicholas E. Goldman. He has turned in his shield and begun extensive operations as a builder. He was on the department four years, when his father, Herman Goldman, of No. 10 West One Hundred and Fourteenth, made him a present of five investments valued at $100,000 and $50,000 in cash. Herman Goldman is thirty years old and was appointed to the force in 1883. He became a member of the bicycle squad and made good record in can automobile chases. He now got several medals for bravery.

MRS. BARRETT'S HOME LOOTED BY BURGLARS.

Several Thousands of Dollars' Worth of Jewelry Taken in Brooklyn.

Mrs. Anthony Barrett, widow of the former President of the old Brooklyn Union Elevated Railroad, reported to-day that burglars entered her home, at No. 21 brevoort place, during the night and stole several thousand dollars' worth of jewelry.

The cracksmen limned their way in through the vestibule doors and ran across the floor of the house. Mrs. Barrett was not home at the time. The burglars made a choice selection of loot, taking only diamonds and jeweled stickpins. Among other trinkets they got a miniaature ring containing thirty-two diamonds.

Calve Sings Carmen Again At Manhattan Opera-House

LIBERTY choruses seemed to lack something because "the little devil" impudent predominance was missing. Her place was taken by Lejeune, and Bevans was substituted for her companion, Giamona, as Mercedes.

Dalmatini was a most impassioned Don Jose, singing with compelling charm. Ponada, her voice in better condition than last week, was an attractive Micaela. Ancona was quite at her best as Escamillo. Gilliard was delightful as chief of the smugglers. Daddi, Mugnor and Reschiglani fitted their parts acceptably. The chorus and the ballet, led by Mile Diaz, were most effective. Over all presided Campanini, who followed the vagaries of the prima donna without slipping a cog in the direction of the whole production.

There was a large audience that was generous of applause, but made no marked demonstration.

SYLVESTER RAWLING.

DELAY IN EAMES SUIT; REFEREE WAITS PAPERS.

Report of Withdrawal of Action Not Credited by Supreme Court Justice in the Case.

(Special to The Evening World.)

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 2.—It was reported in the Supreme Court here to-day that the divorce action brought by Emma Eames Story, the opera singer, against her husband Julian Story, the portrait painter, in the Westchester County Supreme Court, is to be settled out of court. Lawyer Frank M. Buck, of Mount Vernon, referee in the divorce suit, was at White Plains to-day. When asked if he was here to arrange a date for the hearing, he said: "No, I haven't filed my easer-har have received the papers in the case. The stenographer has not been chosen either."

It was rumored that on account of the publicity the parties to the action had decided to withdraw the suit from Westchester. So far no discontinuance papers have been filed.

Supreme Court Justice Tompkins, who appointed Referee Buck, said that he had not signed any other papers in the action and that he believed the withdrawal report was false.

POLICE TROUBLE OVER ST. GREGORY PATIENTS.

Complaint That Former Interferes With Ambulance Surgeons to Be Laid Before Commissioner.

Officials of St. Gregory's Hospital, No. 53 gold street, complain that the police are interfering with their ambulance surgeons. Gen. Ballington Booth, head of the Volunteers of America and also President of the Board of Directors of the institution, has issued a statement strongly censuring the police. It is alleged that the police refuse to allow patients to be taken to St. Gregory's Hospital when they can possibly prevent it.

The hospital officials have asked Police Commissioner Bingham for a district where their ambulances will take charge of emergency cases. Gen. Booth is planning to lay the matter before Mayor McMillan.

WIFE-SLAYER CUTS THROAT.
NEWPORT, Vt., April 2.—Dwight Niles, of Newport, for whom the authorities had been searching since Saturday night, when he is alleged to have shot and killed his wife, was arrested yesterday morning and charged with local lock-up. Shortly afterward he cut his throat with a jack-knife, but it is believed that the wound will not prove serious.

Calve Sings Carmen Again

At Manhattan Opera-House

LIBERTY appeared for the second time as Carmen at the Manhattan Opera-House last night. She approached much nearer to the impersonation that made her famous years ago than at her debut last week. There was less disregard of the composer and more attention to the conductor on her part, and she sang much better. The grossness of her interpretation remained; but there was more refinement in her sensuousness. She did not lean so flagrantly upon merely physical attractions. Her capriciousness was tempered by some regard for art.

The cast, save for two of the principals, was the same that has won its way through many performances to popular recognition in association with Bresser-Gianoli in her wonderfully realistic portrayal of Bizet's heroine. Trentini was missed as Fraschita. The
